SEA SINKS AND BOILS FISH. Alarming Fall of Ocean Observed By

Italian Warships.

New York, July 26 .- From Milan, Italy, comes a story to The Times about a curious phenomenon reported from southern Italy. During the recent period of earthquake shocks and renewed volcanic activity, Count Getido Biscaretti, commander of the Vettor Pisani, with three other torpedo vessels, was engaged in target practice in the Gulf of Salerno when the sea suddenly began to sink at so amazing a rate that be was constrained to weigh anchor and steam 300 yards away. The center of the disturbance seemed almost immediately under the fleet.

This remarkable phenomenon was wit nessed also by Admiral Corsi and the members of various crews. They said lowered level was observed for a quarter of an hour. Then the sea returned to its normal level, and after a while the space of two hours in the Bay of Naples found the surface covered with tens of robbers have not been identified. cooked fish and molluses.
